Pauline Callaway Sheriff in appreciation for the inspiration and assistance she has

M E M O O F A P P R E C I A T I O N

May I express my sincere thanks and gratitude to Mrs Davey for the tremendous amount of effort she has put forth, and for the way she has assembled this Gooch Genealogy

Also,I think she deserves recognition for being the warm and sincere person that she is in spite of many heartaches and disappointments, especially during her childhood, she developed a love of life and of her fellowmen, and a zest of living that shines through her writing and correspondence.

I'm sure that those who are personally acquainted with her know these things better than we do.

Again, THANKS, Verna !

There is a strong desire in most men to know who their fathers were, whence they came, where they lived, and how they were occupied during their earthly sojourn; with the young who are absorbed in the engagements of the present and the hopes of the future, this feeling may not act with energy; but as they advance in life, their thoughts turn back with growing persistency to the past and perhaps they begin to ask questions perhaps there is no means of answering. How many there are who long to ascertain the name of some ancestor or some family connection, but the only person to whose breast the coveted knowledge was lodged, has gone beyond the reach of all inquiry.

I had a longing to find my mother's Gooch Family; she died when I was nine years old, the only knowledge I had was the little bit she told me about them. She and her sister Mona, were the only ones left in Hundley Gooch's family.

In 1958, my two cousins, Ida and Bertha, on the Smith side, and I decided to go to Kentucky and look up the Smith and Gooch families. The Smiths were easy as an aunt had started to trace them. and too, they had lived in the same town of South Fork, Lincoln County, Ky. for four generations. The Gooches proved to be discouraging as my aunt was a youngster when her parents died so knew very little about them.

My cousin, Claude Montgomery, took me to the Pleasant Point Cemetery where I found the dates of births and deaths of my mother's father and mother, her two sisters, Kate, Louvina and brother Kit. Needless to say I returned home with very little knowledge of The Gooch family.

In November 1970, I made another trip to Kentucky still determined to find my mother's family. This was the beginning of a rewarding search as I found a second cousin, Lela Russell, whose sister Effa Reynolds had the book "Gooch Genealogy and Allied Families" written by Evalina Gooch Singleton in 1943. Owen Montgomery and I went to Effa's house hoping to scour the pages of the book, but we never had a chance as Mr. Reynolds held on to the book and proceeded to read names, when they were born and who they married. I hurriedly, scribbled them down but when I got home with my precious paper, I found a scrambled mess of names not knowing who belonged to whom. Later Lela went to the book and straightened out the line to Rowland Gooch, my 4th great grand.

I feel I was destined to find this noble Gooch Family as fate seemed to play into my hands when I answered two adds in a genealogical paper asking for information on the Gooch line. One was from Pauline Sheriff in Hollis, Okla; who is an enthusiastic searcher and eager to share her knowledge with the Gooch descendants; she too, has Evalina's book and through her assistance and encouragement, I have been inspired to compile this information into this book, so others can trace their ancestors.

The second add was from Florence Beltz of Escondido, Calif. who has searched for years and has much information from searchers but I find some is not correct but the early history of Virginia has proven valuable.

Recently I have found another well-informed searcher that has added more to our book, MargueriteAue Rankin of East Wenatchee, Washington.

This searching has been nerve wrecking, and frustrating, time consuming as I use the 'hunt and peck' method with one finger, but oh, so rewarding when I find one more piece in the puzzle. I have been able to trace back fifteen generations. They come from nobility and played a large part in the development of Virginia; even to the extent of having the county, Goochland, named for the illustrious Gooches by Queen Anne of England. I'm sure my mother and her sister, Mona, did not know about their famous ancestors and that I can't quite understand.

The interpretation of the Gooch Family has been taken from the findings of many enthusiastic searchers. I find Evalina Gooch Singleton, who wrote the book "Gooch Genealogy and Allied Families, and H.L. Lowyer are in accord with each other in establishing the Gooch line, and I believe Mr Lowyer has corrected many errors pertaining to the line of John Gooch and Lieutenant Colonel Henry Gooch, that has proved confusing and questionable to those who are seeking to find their true line.

Those who have contributed the results of their findings are:

 Miss Florence Beltz-204 2nd Street, Escondido, California 92025
 Mrs Lela Gooch Russell- Butcher Street, Liberty, Kentucky 42539

The Various Forms of the Gooch Name

The name of Gooch is derived from the ancient baptismal name of Guch or Goch. The Welsh name of Goch meant 'red' and was frequently used to indicate the ruddy complexion or the color of the hair of its bearers.

In ancient English and early American records, the name is found in these various forms of Guche, Guch, Goch, Gough, Gutch, Goodge, Goudge, Gudge, Gouge, Googe, and Gooch, the last name of Gooch is that most generally used in America.

Families bearing this name were to be found in early dates in the English counties of York, Norfolk, Essex, Salop, Wilts, Lincoln and Cambridge and were for the most part of the landed gentry and nobility of Great Britain.

Our early ancestors were found in Suffolk County, England.

The Generations of the Gooches in England

- I -Peter Gooch-who died November 7,1558 at St. Margaret E Suffolk County, England
- II -Thomas Gooch-Lived at Nottingham, Suffolk County, England
- III -Robert Gooch-known as "of Bungay"
- IV -William Gooch-born 1671 married Martha Layer-daughter of Christopher Layer
 V- a-William Gooch b-Thomas Gooch c-Barbara Gooch
- V a-Sir William Gooch-born 1590 died 1664 in England married to Elizabeth Baspoole-daughter of Richard Baspoole and Elizabeth Wilkes
 They are the parents of the sons who came to Virginia as early as 1635 and some before 1650 and started the lines of all the Gooches in America.

Their Children:

- VI a-Richard Gooch b-Sir Thomas Gooch, who stayed in England c-Matthew Gooch
 d-Jeffrey Gooch e-Sir William Gooch f-Barbara Gooch
 g- Lieutenant Colonel Gooch h-Reverend John Gooch

In the spring of 1607 three frail craft battered by wind and wave during a three month crossing of the Atlantic Ocean, landed 104 men on a lonely bank of the James River in Virginia and made an English settlement.

First people, poor or rich, free or slave, brought with him some part of culture of former home-land, known as American way of life. European way of living a decide advantage over the Indians.

For over 200 years colonial powers of Europe engaged in a contest, diplomatic, religious, economics and military for control of one part of the America, Major Spain, France, and England.

British carried English language, law, and political and economics and social institutions to the thirteen colonies.

Indians contributed, major contributions were food, corn, white and sweet potatoes, many varieties of beans, squash, pumpkin, black, blue and cranberries, crabapples, chestnuts, peanuts and maple syrup.

The Gooch family has displayed outstanding ability in medicine, politics and literature. Among those who fought in the Revolutionary War were Captain John Gooch of Rhode Island, Col Thomas Gooch of Delaware, William and Pruney and many others of Virginia.

The genealogy of the Gooch family is worthy of investigation by those who look with longing eyes toward the portals of patriotic societies. All doors open to the family probably without exception for they were up and doing, and who can say nay, when seeking to join. Some of the societies are: Daughters of the Crown, Daughters of Colonial Dames of Virginia, Daughters of the Colonies, First Families of Virginia, Daughters of Knights of the Royal Order of the Garter, and Daughters of the Magna Charta.

The County of Goochland

The County of Goochland, named for the illustrious Gooches by Queen Anne of England, was formed in 1727, a little more than ten years after Governor Spotwood's expedition to the Blue Ridge. The first settlement within the present bounds of Albermarle were still parts of that county and Hanover. The name of Goochland was given the new county. The organization took place the fourth Thursday 1745.

(This article was taken from a book on the early history of Virginia.)

The Gooch Family descendants can trace their ancestors to the two Gooch brothers, William Gooch and Rev. John Gooch who arrived in the colony several years prior to 1650 when their names appear among the distinguished citizens of York County, Virginia. Claiborne and Gideon appear often in tracing the Gooch line and have led more or less confusing in tracing the line.

Inscription and Epitaph

Major William Gough of this parish died Oct.29,1665

Within this tomb there doth interred lie

No shape but substance true nobility.

Itself but young,in,years,just twenty-nine,

Yet graced with virtues morall devine,

In counsell fitting to adorn a state.

Another inscription is that of Captain Thomas Beal Jr.who took to wife Ann, daughter of Colonel William Gough and had by her 2 sons and 2 daughters.

He departed this life on the 17th day of October 1679

In the midst of tempests

When the torrents raved.

Deeply for mercy to the Lord I craved

Whose goodness thus,so fitted me distressed

His mercies brought my soul eternal rest.

The above was taken from a series of articles appearing in the Indianapolis Star on Aug.26,27,and 29 and Sep.13,1932 under column heading "A Hoosier Listening Past." Furnished by Mrs.R.M.Johnson of Franklin,Indiana,who is a descendant of the Gooches.

g-Lt.Col. Henry Gooch-7th son of Sir William Gooch and Elizabeth Baspoole . married Millicent Goodwin Kinsey(Kinsley) a widow of Robert Kinsey. He lived at Gooches Ferry on Panunkey River,what is now King William Co.Virginia. He was active with Nathaniel Bacon;the last meeting with the rebels was held at his home.

(One history lists Henry as married to Jane Jones in place of John Gooch. This is incorrect as of this instant there is no record of him in our line.)

John Gooch, the son of William Gooch and Elizabeth of England was one of their sons who came to Virginia before 1650. He was the first pastor of Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg, Va; the bronze plate on the pulpit marks this fact.

He died Jan. 15, 1684 and is buried in the Jamestown Cemetery.

He was married twice, his first wife is unknown but she was the mother of William. The second wife was Jane Jones, who is the mother of his other children.

Lt Col. Henry Gooch married Millicent Kinsley or Kinsey, the widow of Robert Kinsey, in 1661, York County, Va. Some searchers list Henry as the husband of Jane Jones, but of now, he doesn't enter into our line.

His will 1683 or 84 York County, Va. Jane King William County, Va.

This link to Rev John Gooch, Major William Gooch and Lt. Col. Henry Gooch, is proven by several references to uncles made by Governor William Gooch. The line of Major William Gooch is known to relate to William Gooch who married Elizabeth Baspoole, because of the will; Henry Gooch was the administrator of the will 1655 or 1656.

Lela tells of her grand father William Dabney Gooch as a smart man ;he taught school and did lots of reading. He helped the children learn their multiplication table and fractions ,etc. She thought he came to live with her mother before she died in 1897. He was called "Uncle Squire " and "Squire Billy. He was a justice of Peace and as I notice on a justice of the peace they refer to them as "squire."

The Gooches have intermarried many times;the reason for this as the people were not so thickly settled as now;too,most of the better class were Gooches and there weren't many others to marry.

The Story of Captain Edwards-Brother of Polly Edwards

Some of the older Smith children remembered when an agent called on their father regarding a 100 year lease that had expired on a tract of land on Manhattan Island; and he was trying to trace the legal heirs.

Captain Edwards, a British sea captain, who after performing some noble deed for the crown, was rewarded a piece of land that is now occupied by a very well known church on Manhattan Island.

There was no family of Captain Edwards as he had never married; therefore had willed the property to his sister, Polly Edwards Smith, my father's great grand mother. If Polly could not be located upon his confirmed death, then her second or third generation was to be the heirs of this property. Our father was the third generation, which made the story more interesting.

It was my understanding that at one time the children in Kentucky, raised the money to send a lawyer to New York to investigate the claim. He supposedly returned with 'no news' but soon was showing signs of some unusual wealth. It made a good story and it is somewhat exciting to believe that maybe, there was some truth in it after all.

His Father-William Davey -Lived at Calistoga,California-Information of the following came from Henry Maudlin,Historian for Lake County,California

The Lower Lake Flour Mill was built in 1869 by J.M Everetts and William Davey.

Twin Bridge Stage Station was south of the Twin Bridges on a small flat and close to the bridges;William Davey was riding in a stage at this location before the bridges were built. It was a very heavy storm and the streams were high; the stage tipped over pinning him down and he was drowned.

He had two sons,Hugh Davey and Walter Davey.

Hugh Davey rated high in the county as he was an experienced miner and was head of the Forest Lake Development Co; he took an option on the Mirabel Mining property; he also operated the Bullion and the Plymouth mines; He was really going strong when he sold out in 1932.

My Hugh was named for this Uncle,Hugh Davey.

Nan McGreer-Mother of Walter Davey

Nan McGreer-married William Davey 2nd marriage to Tom Dye,of the famous Tom Dye Rock.
William Davey- They had two sons
Hugh Davey and Walter Davey.

This information comes from Kay McGreer of Antelope-a grand daughter of Henry McGreer

John McGreer,the father of Nan McGreer,was born in Northern Ireland,probably Scottish descent. His wife Susan was a quaker born in Kentucky.

With six children they came to California via covered wagon. They lived in San

With a $10:00 lottery ticket,John won a farm in Lake County,California and they moved there. By trade he was a brush maker.

They had eight children- John, Robert,Charles, Jane,Kate, Addie, Nan,Henry

Henry McGreer-brother to Nan McGreer-he gigged for mining at an early age,took the money to his mother, had a term in the University.

Moved to Lake County where he met and married Josie Murphy.(Josie's family came over the plains with the McGreers.)

The McGreers lived in California ;migrated to Oregon in 1878-homesteaded on the John Day River,where the descendants still live.

Henry McGreer-Hugh's gre at unce Henry,always stayed with us in The Dalles when he attended The Old Historical Society of Oregon that met annually every May.

He was in his eighties but young in spirit. He was noted for his dancing,always put on a special performance for the old timers.

Walter Davey-came to Oregon to visit his Uncle Henry and spent the winter there at Antelope,where he met and a courtship began and ended in their marriage on May 12,1898.

The little old train on the Mt Hood Railroad, that carried freight and passengers up the Hood River Valley in the early 1900 century.

Dan Smith, my father, was the engineer. I can still remember when he let me ride in the cab and ring the bell.

It is not known when Jim Smith and Polly Edwards came from Ireland or when they came to Lincoln County, Kentucky and settled in the small town of South Fork, near the town of McKinney. They built their home on a bank between two rivers; the South Fork stream flowed by the front of the house and the Green River at the back of the place. Across the South Fork River stood the South Fork School house where the Smith Children learned to read and write. When I visited the place in 1958 the school house still stood but its windows were boarded up and no longer in use; at the side of it a hickory nut tree was still growing and producing.

The nine children of David Daugherty Smith, the last generation to live in the old house had grown up, married and left to make homes of their own on plots surrounding the home place. The house has since been torn down and replaced by a new one.

In the year of 1904 this peaceful country life was soon to undergo a drastic change as their Pappy had suddenly become interested in the "Immigration Movement to Oregon." He learned about it from Joe Carson who was traveling throughout the country side selling and buying live stock. His father-in-law was the agent for this Oregon plan, named Thomas Johnson Sr., His son Thomas Johnson Jr. and family had moved to Oregon in 1902; followed a year later by Joe Carson and family.

They wrote to the folks in Kentucky praising the wonderful country; its advantage in living conditions, better wages and jobs and best of all good schools. Grandpappy was convinced that they should move to Oregon; he offered to pay the fare for any one that wanted to make the venture in a new country. There were six of his nine children that were enthused about going.

Those going to Oregon sold their places as they were told they could buy homestead land reasonable; they also had visions of raising those noted strawberries and apples they had heard about. The wages appealed to them as they had walked miles to make fifty cents a day, in Oregon they could make a dollar and a half a day.

Then came the days that were spent preparing to leave; spending the last days with kin folks and baking and packing food to last the entire trip on the train.

It was a sad parting when they had to say 'good-bye' to those they were leaving in Kentucky, realizing they probably would not see each other again, in this world. Mona my mother's sister was heart-broken as they were the only two left in the Hundley Gooch family; she would have no one to rely on. She disliked my grand pappy for taking Mamma so far away.

We stayed with different people in those last days; one place I remember was with some cousins, we were sleeping on a porch, it seems, in the morning when I was dressing I couldn't find one of my stockings, altho we looked every place. The folks consoled me by saying, "they reckoned a pack rat had carried it away." Any way I had only one stocking to wear.

On March 4, 1904, there were thirty six men, women and children who boarded the train at McKinney for Kansas City, Missouri where they would transfer to a train bound for Oregon. There were Grand Pappy Smith, Hannah and Chris Waters and their four children, Mary and Bill Stratton and five children, Rebecca and Jeff Walls and four children, Malinda Adams, a widow and her four children, B and Molly Smith and three children, Dan and Lucy Smith, my parents and Verna, Velma, and Bert who was six months old, that formed the group of sojourners.

In Kansas City, we were joined by a group from Tennessee who were headed for The Dalles, Oregon; they shared the other half of the coach with us.

In the depot our folks bought some oranges for fifteen cents a dozen, we probably had never seen oranges before but we must have eaten the rinds, too and consequently were a mess of sick kids. (Walter, my cousin relates the story of the trip to Oregon and to this day his memory is still vivid.)

Our food was packed in a telescope valise, but by the end of the last days it had become unappetizing and stale; again, there were more sick children.

We arrived in Hood River early in the morning on March 8, 1904, to a dark and dismal day, not a very favorable impression to those tired, weary sick travelers; however we were welcomed by Joe Carson who took some of us to his home and others to a place he had rented for them on West Taylor Street.

I remember sleeping on the floor upstairs at the Carsons. I must have had a high temperature and as they said, "out of my head." how I craved water. In my dreams Uncle Bill would bring me a glass of water and as I placed it to my lips, he would snatch it away from me; that dream was repeated over and over.

It wasn't long before every one was settled, they found homes on Hood River Heights and Uncle Bill, being a farmer found a farm out in the country. Uncle Jeff was a carpenter so he had work fast. Aunt Malinda did housework and left her children with the relatives; Uncle B and my father got a job at a logging camp at Green Mountain driving teams. Later they laid track through the Hood River Valley for the Mt. Hood Railroad Company. It proved to be an important branch for the Oregon Railroad Navigation Company, as the fruit and lumber was shipped to places all over the United States.

When the Mt. Hood Railroad was operating my father was engineer and Uncle B the conductor as it had a passenger coach for the passengers.

Most of the Kentuckians were happy; they found better living conditions, better jobs and wages and best of all good schools; but Grand pappy had not found what he anticipated so by fall he was ready to return to his old Kentucky Home. He was accompanied back with Hannah's family; they were the only ones that could afford to pay their way. Aunt Malinda and children as he would need a housekeeper in Kentucky, but alas he soon married his son's mother-in-law, so Malinda's services were not needed. She was sorry she had not stayed in Oregon.

The one aunt who failed to see any good in coming to Oregon held a grudge at Grand pappy as she said "He brought us out to this god-forsaken place and dumped us."

There were four families out of the six that came to Oregon, stayed and strove to make a happy life in the new country in the far west. How my father longed to go back with his father but Mamma said, "No, we will stay here where there are opportunities for the children they could never have had in Kentucky." She wanted us to have a good education, one thing that had been denied her, probably. She lived only three years in Oregon and Papa six years; I am glad though I have been able to live in Oregon and take advantage of all the opportunities available in this wonderful land.

On this day, June 30th 1975, I am adding the last page to the Gooch Genealogy. It has meant eighteen years of searching since I first went to Kentucky to find my mother's Gooch ancestors. I found my great, great grandfather, John L. Gooch, came to Lincoln County, Kentucky in 1804 and started my line in Kentucky.

These findings are the results of many searchers and compiled into this book. I have had to change pages and lines many times as new information came from individuals that presented their lines.

The first revelation came when Pauline sent pages from H.L. Lowor's book. He has done a vast research on the Gooches and I sincerely believe, "he has established the true line of William Gooch who has baffled many searchers as to his true parents." Some have listed him as the son of Henry Gooch and Millicent Kinsey, while others have him as a son of Jane Jones. Mr Lowor has verified the fact he is the son of Reverend John Gooch, his wife is of now unknown.

Florence Beltz had searched for many years, even to having paid searchers to find her ancestors. She had been unable to find her great grandfather, Gideon Gooch. We found him hiding in the will of Gideon Gooch who was the son of Rowland Gooch; he had left his entire estate to his brothers' children, they were named in the will so we were able to find her gideon as the son of John who was the son of Rowland.

Marguerite Aue has added a bit when she sent me her line from William Gooch, the son of Rowland and I found the children of Rowland.

Pauline Sheriff had been confused for years trying to find the real parents of William Gooch Jr. After I had the book ready to go to the printers, she came forth with the valuable information that he was the son of a William who was a son of Claiborne Gooch. How rewarding that bit turned out to be, again I had to change a line and re-type several pages to include another found ancestor.

After months of typing with one finger and learning to type on an electric typewriter, I can finally say, "It is ready to be printed." I have strove to make the best better as 4 H Clubbers' motto states. I am sure there will be errors as it is difficult to type dates, and identify so many duplicates of the names of William, Claiborne, Gideon, Rowland, John, Dabney, Elizabeth, Mary and Unity.

I am relieved it is finished and happy to present the Gooch Genealogy to those who are searching for their true ancestors and hoping they will find it helpful and rewarding.

Needless to say, "I am proud to be a descendant of the 'illustrious Gooches' and proud to pass this heritage to my children and grand children.

Coat of Arms

Historiography

The Gough Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Gough Coat of Arms design can be found in Burke's General Armory. Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Gu. on a fesse ar. betw. three boars' heads couped or, lion pass. az." "A boar's head couped ar. devouring a broken spear, gu."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

When translated the blazon also describes the original colors of the Gough Arms and Crest as it appeared centuries ago. Family mottos are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times. A Motto was recorded with this Gough Coat of Arms:

"DOMAT OMNIA VIRTUS"

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification. The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name, or personal characteristics. The surname Gough appears to be both patronymical and characteristic in origin, and is believed to be associated with the English and Irish meaning, "son of Eochaidh (rich in cattle), and "one who was ruddy complexioned or was a red-haired manmentary." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurrence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations of Gough to be Gogh, Goghs, Goff, Goffs, Gough, Goughs and Goughs.

Although bearers of the old and distinguished Gough name comprise a small fraction of the population there are a number who have established for it a significant place in history. They include: JOHN GOUGH (fl. 1528-1556) Printer and translator who published the first English treatise dealing with the art of bookkeeping in 1543. JOHN GOUGH (1757-1825) Scientific writer who lost his sight as a child after suffering from acute small pox; trained his sense of touch to such a highly specialized degree that he became an accomplished botanist; instructed John Dalton, the chemist, and William Whewell, the scientist, basic and advanced mathematical principles; and, authored several essays for the Manchester Philosophical Society and Nicholson's "Philosophical Magazine." ALEXANDER DICK GOUGH (1804-1871) Architect and engineer who was a pupil of B. Watt, noted engineer; with the assistance of R.L. Roumieu exhibited at the Royal Academy between 1837 and 1847; and, was responsible for the construction and restoration of churches at Islington and North London. No genealogical representation is intended or implied by this report and it does not represent individual lineage or your family tree.
